Market Commentary

Sitting in 2019 and observing record debt levels across the global economy, most investors would have struggled to sense how the system would operate should interest rates ever leave the zero lower bound. Well now they're in the 3-5% range across advanced economies bar Japan. There's been a few hiccups along the way: the LDI blow-up in the UK, a regional banking crisis in the US and the collapse of Credit Suisse, yet the economy and asset markets continue to outperform expectations. The main reason for this in our view is that governments have overloaded the system with an endless list of untargeted fiscal support measures, blunting any pain from inflation or rising interest rates.

So, governments are keeping their foot on the accelerator whilst central banks are jamming the brakes. The direct outcome is spiking interest expense, something we haven't seen for 30 years. The interest bill for US government debt reached a record high of $1.2 trillion in nominal terms over the last 12 months, that's $100bn more than defense expenditures, straight in the pockets of bondholders who could go out and spend that on more goods and services. Could higher interest rates then lead to bigger deficits, more spending and higher inflation? Let's not go there...as a percentage of tax receipts, the figure is less worrying, but keep in mind the recession hasn't yet begun.

How does this all shake out? The key factor is liquidity risk. Our debt-fueled, hyper financialized system needs a constant stream of money just to keep the lights on. Ultimately, central banks will have to revert to printing money to alleviate this burden, but with inflation still sticky we believe we have not reached that moment yet. If central banks refuse to finance government debt, then money needs to be pulled from other pockets of the financial system. There's a laundry list of assets that have benefitted and relied on loose money over the last decade that would suffer should liquidity be pulled, and margin calls triggered. When do we reach breaking point? It's impossible to time. There is one central bank that has bucked the trend of global QT. With inflation rising in Japan a tightening of policy by the BOJ could be the trigger for a sudden liquidity squeeze.

Performance

The aim of the strategy is to provide a stable stream of real total returns over the long term with low absolute volatility and significant downside protection.

For the first half of 2023, the portfolio produced a positive absolute return. Both major asset classes posted positive returns. Both non-US & US equities in the portfolio performed well but underperformed the relevant indices. The bond allocation contributed over the period despite inflationary pressures caused by a rising rate environment. Stronger returns from non-US bonds were driven by currency and also due to the bond portfolio's low duration positioning, the returns outperformed the non-US bond markets. The US bonds were broadly in line with the relevant indices. Currency hedging added value as the Australian dollar depreciated against US dollar.

Rockwell and Automatic Data Process were amongst the top contributors for the first half of 2023. Rockwell Automation performed well over the first half of 2023 after having had a poor start to 2022. The company remains well positioned to benefit from the long-term trend of increasing automation in factories and reshoring of manufacturing capacity to the US. S&P Global rose over the quarter as concerns around the financial sector began to alleviate after the Silicon Valley Bank problems in the first quarter. The company also posted results that met investor expectations and indicated that the IHS Markit integration was going well.

Computershare and Automatic Data Process detracted for the first half of 2023. Computershare Ltd in Australia was a very strong performer during 2022 as central banks around the world battled to control inflation with interest rate rises. As Computershare is a temporary custodian of flows of cash between its customers and their stakeholders it is a direct beneficiary of rising rates. During Q1 2023 market panics about Silicon Valley Bank and then Credit Suisse caused expectations of future interest rates to fall. However, these expectations change rapidly and it should be remembered that inflation shows no signs of being under control in the key markets for Computershare – the UK, US and Europe.

Automatic Data Process lagged the market as investors worried about the effect a deteriorating employment situation (especially in the US) would have on the company's earnings. In addition, the company is seen as relatively defensive and so it held up very well during 2022 in a difficult period for stock markets, this pushed the valuation of the company to the top end of its valuation range. It is worth noting that ADP is part of a very select group of companies in the US that continuously grown their dividends for over 25 years.

North American equity markets rose strongly over the first half of the year. In the US, the stock market had an encouraging period as inflation data continued to moderate giving investors confidence that the Federal Reserve would soon start to moderate or pause their interest rate tightening cycle. In addition, the market began to normalise as the contagion effects of the bankruptcy of Silicon Valley Bank looked contained.

The Canadian market rose over the period as banking stock prices as well as commodity prices stabilised after a volatile first quarter.

In the US, sectors such as information technology led the market as investors focused on sectors that were perceived to offer superior earnings growth. The utilities sector lagged the market as higher yielding utility stocks competed with government bonds for investor funds. The portfolio benefitted from having an underweight position in the utility and energy sectors. In terms of country performance, the US market (SP500) outperformed the Canadian market (TSX) (in local currency terms).

The Australian Dollar remains the only currency exposure hedged in the portfolio. The Australian Dollar weakened slightly against the US dollar. Pyrford view the US dollar as significantly overvalued based on in-house Purchasing Power Analysis and therefore maintain a significant exposure (45%) to non-US dollar assets. If the currency does fall as expected, the portfolio will benefit.

Outlook

Pyrford retains a cautious outlook for international economic growth and expects the necessary adjustments to corporate and personal balance sheets in the developed West to take a prolonged period to achieve. This is essentially a deflationary process and represents a significant headwind to economic growth.

Following the rally in North American equity markets over the last few years, valuations are in aggregate less attractive than they were. Even after recent declines, North American equity markets remain overvalued in absolute terms given the earnings and dividends per share growth that can be reasonably expected. Equity investors will be best rewarded by concentrating on high quality companies selling at low valuations relative to a defensive and visible stream of earnings. Financial leverage should be avoided, and investors should focus on companies which are very well capitalised and whose business models have proved resilient during previous periods of poor economic growth.

Market Commentary

"In a World in which most investors appear interested in figuring out how to make money every second and chasing the idea de jour, there's something validating about the value investing message that it's okay to do nothing and wait for opportunities to present themselves. It's lonely and contrary a lot of the time, but that's what it takes."

Seth Klarman, "The Art of Value Investing" 2013.

There is no doubt that today's idea de jour is Artificial Intelligence (AI), and that excitement about its potential has helped propel the market upwards over the last quarter. The MSCI World Index added 683bps during the quarter, the S&P500 gained 830bps and the NASDAQ 1305bps. Market leadership has been extremely narrow, with the seven largest stocks in the MSCI (all tech, all in the US) delivering 55% of the index return despite being only a 17% weighting. The pockets of outstanding value offered up in the tech sector in 2022 have now all but disappeared.

Artificial Intelligence is an amorphous concept, and ChatGPT and Bard are in some respects just the next step down a road we have been on for some time as computers get ever better at understanding and synthesising knowledge. However, the combination of Natural Language Processing (we can communicate with the computer in plain English or indeed Swahili), massive training data sets (access to the entire corpus of human knowledge available on the internet), and the increasing sophistication of machine learning algorithms (the systems quickly learn from feedback) does feel like a paradigm shift. While we do believe this form of AI will prove useful and often transformative across a wide array of disciplines from developing drugs to producing media to automating administrative functions, we do also believe we are already well into a "hype cycle" and must therefore tread with caution.

Performance

The Global Equity Fund C Class returned +15,4% during H1 2023, marginally outperforming the MSCI World NR USD Index of +15,1%.

The Gartner hype cycle is a graphical presentation that depicts the future expected value of a given innovation in the collective minds of its potential adopting market ("visibility") through time ("maturity").

The dotcom mania is perhaps the best illustration of this concept: the market was initially quick to anticipate the potential impact of the technology but found it very difficult to pick winners or to live with them through the many years of disillusionment until they started to generate sufficiently meaningful adoption and a level of profits that could justify the multiples paid at the "peak of inflated expectations". We expect AI to be similarly transformative, but as with the internet, the timescales, business models and economics remain far from certain. The one thing we do know for sure is that, on average, it is a mistake to pay too much for an uncertain future, or to paraphrase Warren Buffett "you pay a high price for a cheery consensus."

We are strongly of the view that in investing, as in life, patience is a virtue. Sentiment oscillates wildly and typically with far greater amplitude than the underlying intrinsic value of businesses. It is our job to exploit this dynamic, which typically means steering clear of the "idea du jour" and instead paying attention to the darlings of yesterday that have disenfranchised their owners and been unceremoniously dumped into the trough of disillusionment. The sine wave can be surprisingly long, for example, it took almost 13 years for Microsoft's valuation to trough post the dotcom bubble and we are now 10 years into the upcycle in sentiment (and operating performance!) with regard to its prospects in the public cloud. The wave can also be surprisingly short and violent, as we have just experienced with our investment in Meta.

Outlook

Whilst we are mindful of any potential near term hype cycle, there are companies in the Strategy that should benefit from artificial intelligence as and when it gains further traction. One of the underlying themes in the portfolio has been Public Cloud adoption. Simplistically, it effectively outsources the IT ecosystem/infrastructure to a third party. Alphabet, Microsoft and Amazon are leading players in this market with their respective products Google Cloud Platform (GCP), Azure and Amazon Web Services (AWS). Andy Jassy, Amazon CEO, noted in early July that over 90% of IT infrastructure still remains on-premise and that over time their belief is that the majority of this will move to being delivered by public cloud. To give some context, the global IT spend constitutes a market that is worth $4.5tr in 2023 according to industry analysts Gartner. The three companies mentioned are expected to generate in the region of $185bn in revenues in 2023 and constitute over two thirds of the Public Cloud market. Whilst this is already very significant, it still constitutes only <4% of the total. Global IT spend is clearly not entirely addressable, but it is likely that public cloud penetration can rise materially over the coming decade.

Artificial Intelligence fits into public cloud due to the significant computational power and R&D capability required. It is unlikely that many organisations have the resources and internal skillset to build their own models and systems. This means that they will typically use public cloud vendors to help provide them with this capability that can deliver meaningful process improvements to their businesses. For example, Amazon today already has over 100,000 customers using large language models (a workhorse for AI modelling). So whilst it is still early in the adoption of generative AI tools for instance, one of the most likely places for monetisation of that adoption are the companies listed. The timing and quantum of the opportunity is still highly uncertain, but we believe that we have deployed capital in these companies at a point where the opportunity has effectively been a free option and not contemplated in forecasts. For example, Alphabet trades at a very reasonable 19x 2024 earnings with a significant net cash position. We continue to monitor positions to determine if and when these potential AI opportunities are more reflected in valuations.

Nevertheless, as the crowd is drawn to the AI narrative like a moth to a flame, we believe the best opportunities will be available elsewhere, in the parts of the market that are being ignored.

Nedgroup Investments Global Flexible Fund

Performance

The Nedgroup Investments Global Flexible Fund ("the Fund") gained 5.9% for the second quarter of 2023 and 14.5% for the trailing 12 months (ended 30 June 2023). The Fund captured 78.3% of the MSCI World's gain in the trailing twelve months, outperforming its own 68.9% average net risk exposure.

Portfolio commentary

The Nedgroup Global Flexible Fund celebrated its 10th anniversary in June. We are pleased the Fund has met its goal of generating equity-like returns over the long-term over its ten-year history, achieving this favourable track record by focusing on a margin of safety, which meant shunning, at times, investments that may have been temporarily in favour.

More specifically, since inception, the Fund has exposed investor capital to less risk than the equity market, on average, generating 70% of the MSCI World's wealth creation while "risking" less than 65% of the dollars invested in the Fund. Reducing risk further, the Fund has avoided any meaningful interest rate exposure.

For those who prefer less up and down, especially when price moves precipitate an often-inappropriate action – buy or sell, Global Flexible's mandate is as relevant to investors today as it was when we partnered with Nedgroup Investments to manage the Fund in 2013. Though we don't know what the next 10 years hold, we strive to continue to offer a similar investor experience. This last decade has given us surprises and market excess such as the recent pandemic. We will be surprised, but probably not astonished, in the future. We promise to remain thoughtful and calm as we continue to steward your capital, traits that allow us to lean in when there's the opportunity and tilt away when there is none, like when we increased risk exposure during Covid, but reduced it in the preceding periods.

During this period, we would like to think we have pushed each other to evolve and stay relevant, and fingers crossed, our continuing education is far from over. However regardless of the times, we think sensible optimism mixed with a dash of prudence will never go out of fashion, even if our haircuts may.

In the last twelve months, the Fund's top five performers contributed 5.9%, net, to its return, while its bottom five detracted 1.6%, net. There wasn't a unifying theme that drove performance in the last year.

Outlook

"Risk on" in 2023 has replaced the fear that drove markets lower in 2022. How much of this rebound will ultimately be supported by corporate earnings has yet to be seen. While there is always something to fear, we prefer to focus on the future prospects of the businesses we own. Focusing on the destination makes the big potholes in the road feel more like small speed bumps and prevents us from executing panicked driving manoeuvres.

Looking back at the past 18 months, there was certainly no shortage of opportunities to take down risk exposure as macro concerns, from interest rates to war, seemed to grow by the day. However, we attempted to lean into the market and add to either new or existing names where our estimates of the risk/reward improved with each leg down. While we will never get it perfectly right, our process has mostly led to better capital protection than the overall market during periods of market downturns, while still participating meaningfully in the subsequent market recovery.

Looking forward, we do not offer a market forecast or make predictions about interest rates, the economy, or other significant macro issues because we don't know of anyone who can do so with any consistency (ourselves included). We examined Wall Street's consensus forecast of how the S&P 500 will perform over subsequent 12-month periods from 2000 to 2014. They were, more often than not, off by a substantial amount. Note that in these 15 years, the consensus view only expected the market to increase, yet it declined more than a quarter of the time. While not current, and only depicting the S&P 500, this shows that forecasting is relatively futile. We, therefore, direct our efforts from the bottom up rather than the top down.

Nedgroup Investments Core Global Fund

Nedgroup Investments Core Global Fund Class A increased by a return of 9.8% net of fees for the 12 months ended 30 June 2023; by comparison its performance indicator (Morningstar Europe OE USD Aggressive Allocation Category Average) increased by 8.1% over this period.

The Nedgroup Investments Core Global Fund was launched on the 16th of November 2015. The portfolio follows a long-term strategic asset allocation which is determined by Nedgroup Investments and implemented by BlackRock Investment Management (UK) who has been appointed as Sub-investment Manager. The portfolios' underlying holdings predominantly consist of iShares index mutual funds and ETFs, which are combined to gain efficient global exposure to a range of different asset classes (eg. equities, listed property, bonds, inflation-linked bonds and cash).

Market Commentary

Despite the threat of recession, interest rate hikes and inflation concerns, global shares have provided a surprising overall return of 13.9% in the first half of the year (in USD). The United States, which is by far has the largest weight in global equity indices, once again delivered higher returns than the rest of the world with the S&P500 returning 16.9% (in USD). Tech stocks made a comeback to their former glory, driving overall US market returns, after their fall from glory in 2022 where they tumbled over 30%. Even global bonds did well to provide relatively flat returns in spite of rapidly rising global interest rates (in USD).

These exuberant global equity returns somewhat mask the shifting landscape. Since the global financial crisis, the world has enjoyed high money supply, low inflation and low interest rates which have driven up valuations of asset classes. However, this is rapidly changing, and the new regime seems to signal the end of easy money.

Most global economic forecasts project poor economic growth. But all is not doom and gloom; surprisingly the Federal Reserve have changed their stance on their prediction of a US recession and instead expect a soft landing due to their decision to hold off on a rate hike in June.

In such a rapidly changing environment, it's even more difficult to forecast the future. In such times, it is critical not to make emotionally driven investment decisions. The Nedgroup Investments Core Global Fund is very well diversified, with over 10 000 different instruments across a range of geographies, asset classes and sectors, helping to reduce risk and volatility.

Conclusion

The Core Global Fund's objective is to provide growth through low-cost exposure to a range of global asset classes. Diversification across asset classes, regions and currencies should help reduce risk and volatility to moderate levels. We believe that the combination of lower costs and broad diversification should benefit investors over long term and allow the portfolio to achieve its objective of capital growth over the medium to long term.

Nedgroup Investments Global Property Fund

Performance

Nedgroup Investments Global Property Fund Class A increased by 0.6% net of fees for the six months ended 30 June 2023; by comparison the performance indicator (FTSE EPRA/NAREIT Developed) gained 1.0% over the same period. There were clear winners and losers, by sector and region over the first half of 2023.

Japanese listed real estate companies were among the best performers. Otherwise known as Japanese Developers, they seemed to benefit from the halo effect of signs of improved Japanese corporate governance on the back of initiatives from the Tokyo Stock Exchange and news that Berkshire Hathaway had increased its investment in the five largest Japanese trading companies.

In North America, persistent elevated jobs growth underpinned strong operational performance and investor interest in residential REITs. The portfolio's significant absolute and overweight exposure to the sector was a key positive performance contributor.

Swedish real estate stocks were weighed down by corporate governance scandals and the need for equity recapitalisation of weak balance sheets. The portfolio has no exposure to Sweden and hence this was a contributor to relative performance.

Despite relatively strong balance sheets, UK REITs also underperformed, negatively impacted by stubborn inflation increasing the likelihood of more draconian interest rate increases. The portfolio is overweight the UK region, weighing negatively on the relative performance.

The Reserve Bank of Australia's aggressive interest rate increases and the country's largely floating rate residential mortgages, threaten to curtail consumer spending. This weighed on the performance of the key A-REIT holdings within the portfolio.

Signs of life in transaction activity in other markets sparked a rebound in prices of the most beaten-up segments, including German residential and New York office. The portfolio's minimal exposure to these segments facing finance issues and in the latter case, fundamentally weak operating conditions, was a key detractor to relative returns.

Market Commentary

Whilst the persistence of an inverted yield curve points to slower economic conditions, if not a looming recession, employment markets displayed resilience in most developed countries, goading Central Banks to continue ramping interest rates to bring inflation to heel. Toward the end of June, signs of moderating inflation in the U.S. allowed the country's Federal Reserve to pause and contemplate the timing and extent of further interest rate increases.

Rising interest rates, concerns surrounding the fall-out from recent bank failures and rising levels of commercial property loan defaults, weighed on sentiment toward real estate. Against a backdrop of a tech stock rally, some have described the lack of property transaction activity as a real estate capital market recession, which resembles the conditions in the late 1990s when investors were completely enamoured by dot-com start-ups.

Hong Kong listed real estate was the weakest performing region in the second quarter. Whilst western economies' post-Covid recovery has been robust, China's recovery is proving moribund. Hong Kong is on the wrong side of hawkish monetary policy setting imported from the U.S., whilst its economy is reflective of the anaemic growth conditions of greater China.

As overall real estate transaction volumes remained subdued, the spread between real estate values implied by listed real estate prices and appraised based valuations remained contentious. By our estimates, REITs are trading at roughly 15% below estimated property values.

Elsewhere, the stock market's attention was captured by developments in the Artificial Intelligence (AI) sector. Consequently, data centre REITs enjoyed heightened buying interest.

Outlook

Despite the ongoing macro concerns, numerous management engagements and asset tours continue to evidence healthy operating conditions for most real estate sectors. That said, prudently, most REIT managers are preparing for weaker tenant demand conditions in the year ahead.

Nedgroup Investments Funds plc

Condensed Interim Report and Unaudited Financial Statements for the financial period ended 30 June 2023

The enthusiasm for private market real estate appears to have waned as capital has become more expensive, if not scarce, and better value has emerged in listed REITs and other asset classes. Real estate transaction markets should become increasingly active as unlisted funds are forced to meet investor redemption requests and levered owners deal with less supportive lenders, particularly for assets facing declining income and/or requiring additional capital.

Fortunately, we see limited evidence of over building which suggests real estate should experience a relatively soft landing, although loan defaults emanating from increased office building obsolescence poses the greatest threat to the overall industry.

Overwhelmingly the Portfolio is positioned to endure if not prosper in these conditions in terms of the REITs taking advantage of value accretive leasing and investment opportunities. Notably the portfolio holdings display outstanding characteristics: Robust balance sheets; well-located portfolios of properties, above average occupancy levels; industry leading sustainability expertise; and earnings growth of circa 4.5%.

The portfolio holdings are trading at a discount to medium/long term average multiples and at a discount to appraisal based real estate valuations, providing investors with a margin of safety.

Performance

The Nedgroup Investments Contrarian Value Equity Fund ("the Fund") gained 8.6% for the second quarter of 2023 and 21.0% for the trailing 12 months (ended 30 June 2023).

Portfolio commentary

There wasn't a unifying theme that drove performance in the last year. In the previous twelve months, the Funds top five performers contributed 9.9% to its return, while its bottom five detracted 2.4%.

Open Text was a relatively short-lived holding in comparison to our typical time frame. We were attracted to this Canadian-based provider of enterprise software due to its stable revenue stream. More than 80% of Open Text's revenue was recurring, which helped deliver attractive mid-30s EBITDA margins. We considered the business to have a sticky customer base that included 97 of the 100 largest companies in the world. Purchased at a low double-digit multiple to after-tax free cash flow, we expected to own the company for years, with capital deployment going towards dividends, buybacks, and small bolt-on acquisitions, as it had in the past. Unfortunately, to our surprise, while we owned the stock, Open Text announced a relatively large acquisition in the form of UK-based Micro Focus. Familiar with the target, we were unenthused about both the asset and increased debt on the balance sheet from funding the purchase, so we chose to exit stage left rather than try to re-write our investment thesis.

In contrast to our short-lived ownership of Open Text, Broadcom has been a holding for just short of five years. At the time of our original purchase, the company was primarily focused on driving organic growth in its existing semiconductor franchises and acquiring new ones when the opportunity presented itself. As potential acquisition candidates in the industry became scarce, management, led by highly regarded Hock Tan, pivoted to set their sights on the software industry, culminating in several acquisitions. Unlike Open Text, in this instance, after multiple discussions with senior management, we found ourselves comfortable with the company's new strategy after re-examining the investment implications. We are glad we did, as it would be an understatement to say that Broadcom has gone from strength to strength over the past five years, improving operating margins, aggressively repurchasing shares, and increasing the dividend, all the while continuing to execute its M&A strategy flawlessly.

Risk on" in 2023 has replaced the fear that drove markets lower in 2022. How much of this rebound will ultimately be supported by corporate earnings has yet to be seen. Market Commentary

Particularly in the latter half of H1 2023, markets vacillated between fears over sticky inflation, risks that central banks have overstepped, and hope that they have engineered a soft landing. Forward looking indicators including inventory build, shrinking order backlogs, improving delivery speed, and competitive exchange rates in the manufacturing hubs of Asia forcing prices lower as they export disinflation, all point to inflation falling and indeed undershooting in 2024-25. While retreating inflation is good news, continued tightening based on backward-looking services, employment and wage data looks like policy error and risks a sharper slowdown.

Performance

The portfolio (C Class USD) marginally underperformed the MSCI EM NR USD Index during H1 2023 (+4,5% vs +4,9%). Particularly in Q2 2023, the portfolio underperformed over the period, largely down to drag from stock picking in China, while partially offset by gains in IT and Communications names boosted by investor excitement for AI technology.

Stock picking in Chinese equities was the largest detractor through the quarter as fatigued foreign investors become increasingly sceptical of the prospects for China's economic recovery. State-owned enterprises bucked the broader trend, with investor enthusiasm for extremely cheap companies across a host of sectors sparked by the announcement of yet another SOE reform push aimed at improving shareholder returns. The portfolio has very limited exposure to SOEs, largely by proxy through private sector companies Baosight (automation in the state-owned steel sector) and Supcon Technology (automation in petrochemicals). We are sceptical on the prospects for more dynamic SOE management that justifies the outperformance, driven by local mutual fund investors embracing the theme in the absence of other short term opportunities. Despite the challenging backdrop, the portfolio remains overweight China (including Hong Kong). Valuations remain compelling, money numbers accommodating, and easy earnings comps for portfolio names. Meaningful stimulus could be another boost, but authorities have only made tweaks which have failed to counter the malaise.

Stock picking and an overweight to India was the strongest contributor at a country level, led by private hospital chain Max Healthcare, telecoms company Bharti Airtel, Yum! Brands franchisee Devyani, and PepsiCo bottler Varun Beverages. Max was boosted by news of MSCI index inclusion, prompting a number of positive broker reports. The company has been generating an earnings CAGR of 60% over the last cycle as Max works to meet the need for improved health infrastructure in India, and global demand for quality medical tourism. There is only a small handful of private hospital players in India with huge headroom for growth through maximising bed utilisation, optimising payee type, while adding capacity via its land bank in Mumbai and Delhi and acquiring other sites for development.

Outlook

Given the difficult environment described above, the portfolio is relatively defensively positioned, with only selective exposure to commodities and energy stocks and favouring high quality consumer and technology names.

It appears that the pace of tightening by central banks is an equal and opposite error to the excessively prolonged QE in 2020-21, the full effects of which should become apparent through the second half of the year. Money numbers in EM continue to diverge to the upside relative to DM, with lower inflation and higher rates, having not resorted to the same monetary excesses through the pandemic. This along with better economic fundamentals, improving corporate earnings, modest valuations, competitive real exchange rates and sustained growth, all bode well for long term return prospects.

However, in the near term it is highly unlikely that EM equities will decouple when developed markets enter recession. With this in mind, we remain defensive while looking for global excess money numbers to turn positive before adding to cyclically sensitive sectors.

Performance

The Fund holds a large number of stocks with small position sizes, this means that individual stock contribution, even from our “top picks”, can be quite modest. However, we maintain a strong strike rate (we estimate around 60/40) which means we end up with lots of modestly performing good ideas spread across the portfolio.

During the second quarter of calendar year 2023, Japan added alpha whilst North America and, to a lesser extent, the Rest-of-World bucket and Europe detracted. The biggest sector winners were Communication Services and Consumer Staples, with alpha largely driven by strong stock selection. The biggest detractors were Information Technology and Financials, the drag on performance being a combination of stock selection and asset allocation. The portfolio's structural underweight to mega-caps acted as a headwind this quarter, with benchmark mega-caps outperforming other market cap brackets. Growth stocks outperformed Value stocks over the three months.

Market commentary and outlook

Every quarter we go through two decision cycles. One is a review of existing holdings in the portfolio to check if the reasons we own a stock are still supported by new evidence, and the second is to generate new ideas. We have just completed a new idea cycle, and this note will highlight some of the themes that have emerged from this review.

Our core belief is that positive analyst surprise drives share prices up. We are still finding more attractive ‘Analyst Bias’ opportunities (companies that are currently surprising, where we think surprise will persist for the next 12 months) than ‘Investor Bias’ opportunities (stocks that are currently disappointing making investors anxious, but where we have identified management behaviour change we believe will cause disappointment to flip to surprise over the next 6-12 months).

Attractive Investor Bias opportunities are still relatively rare in the current environment. We are cycling off from a period of unusually high surprise driven by the very strong macro recovery in 2021 and many stocks have only started disappointing relatively recently. Given we believe it requires quite a lot of trauma to trigger a change in management behaviour, we would expect to pick up more Investor Bias names following a more prolonged period of pressure. However, there are some areas where, due to the unusual impact of the pandemic on demand, pressure has persisted for long enough to trigger interesting management behaviour change. We found a few new ideas in the health care and technology sectors that fit this pattern, including West Pharmaceuticals and IPG Photonics.

Many CEOs in the technology sector are struggling to meet their plans as they contend with more cautious customer behaviour following the pandemic-driven boom in IT demand and the consequences of capital crowding. However, there is building evidence that companies providing highly integrated, bundled software solutions to resilient enterprise customers are recovering faster than ‘best-in-class’ point solutions as customers look to consolidate their IT spend. A number of these bundled solution providers have returned to high growth and surprise following effective growth plan resets. This group includes Microsoft and Hubspot which we bought as Analyst Bias ‘high growth’ stocks during this review.

We also found a handful of Analyst Bias ‘high growth’ companies in the industrials sector. Copart, an online marketplace salvaged car auctions, is increasingly taking share from non-online competition and benefitting as cars become more complex and expensive to repair. Ashtead, an equipment rental business, is enabling a shift in customer preferences from buying to renting due to better economics and is leading industry consolidation. The unusual growth drivers behind these businesses make them less cyclical than analysts expect.

We also picked up some more Analyst Bias ‘predictable growth’ companies in the industrials sector. Ametek and Transdigm both have unusually strong footholds in niche, IP intensive, mission critical markets, enabling unusually predictable growth in end markets broadly considered by analysts and investors to be unpredictable. We also bought Rollins, a reassuringly boring pest control business, unloved by analysts who dislike the stale narrative and angst about the sustainability of roll-up-driven growth.

We will shortly enter a new review cycle where we will test the integrity of all the existing investment cases in the portfolio. An important part of this process is checking the logical consistency of current holdings with the themes that have emerged from the latest new ideas review. Any apparent inconsistencies will be rationalised or sold.

The Company was incorporated as a public limited liability company, in the Isle of Man on 28 January 1999. It was redomiciled into Ireland on 13 May 2014, under the laws of Ireland as a public limited company, pursuant to the Companies Act 2014 and the European Communities (Undertakings for Collective Investment in Transferable Securities) Regulations, 2011, as amended (the “UCITS Regulations”) and the Central Bank (Supervision and Enforcement) Act 2013 (Section 48(1)) (Undertakings for Collective Investment in Transferable Securities) Regulations 2019 (the “Central Bank UCITS Regulations”), and has been authorised by the Central Bank as an Undertakings for Collective Investment in Transferable Securities (“UCITS”). In order to pursue its objective the Sub-Fund will employ an active management approach.

Contrarian Value Equity Fund

The investment objective of the Contrarian Value Equity Fund is to provide investors with long term capital growth.

6. Share Capital

The authorised share capital of the Company is 100 subscriber shares of USD 0.01 each and 1,000,000,000,000 shares of no par value initially designated as unclassified shares.

The subscriber shares do not entitle the holders to participate in the dividends or net assets of any Sub-Funds except when the Company winds up, in which case, the subscriber shares are entitled to the payment of sums up to the notional amount paid thereon out of the assets of the Company not attributable to any class of Share. In the event that there are insufficient assets to enable such payment in full to be made, no recourse shall be had to the assets of the Company attributable to other classes of shares.

Within each Sub-Fund and Class, the Company may issue participating shares which shall represent interests in the same distinct portfolio of investments. The net income per Distributing participating shares will be distributed in accordance with the dividend policy for the Sub-Fund as set out in the relevant Supplement and may be in the form of additional Shares to Shareholders. No declarations or distributions shall be made in respect of the Accumulating participating shares. Any net income attributable to the Accumulating participating shares shall be retained and the value of such Shares will rise accordingly.

The Company's capital met the EUR 300,000 capital required to establish a self-regulated investment company under the UCITS Regulations. This requirement was effective until January 2022, however this requirement is no longer applicable due to Carne Global Fund Managers (Ireland) Limited being appointed as the Manager on 1 February 2022.

8. Fees and Expenses (continued)

Depository Fees

The Depository receives from the Company a fee, calculated and accrued on each dealing day and payable monthly in arrears, at the rate of up to 2.30 basis points of the Net Asset Value of each Sub-Fund, subject to a minimum fee of USD 15,000 per annum/USD 1,250 per Sub-Fund per month.

The Company will also reimburse the Depository for transaction charges at normal commercial rates and for reasonable out-of-pocket expenses necessarily incurred in the performance of its duties.

Total Depository fees during the financial period amounted to USD 787,694 (30 June 2022: USD 863,435) with USD 197,169 payable as at financial period end (31 December 2022: USD 284,001).

Operating Expenses

The Company is responsible for all normal operating expenses including audit fees and charges incurred on the acquisition and realisation of investments. General operating expenses, which are not allocable to a specific Sub-Fund, are evenly split across the Sub-Funds or split based on the value of each Sub-Fund, as applicable.

Total Expense Cap

The aggregate expenses of each Sub-Fund payable out of the assets of the Sub-Fund will not exceed 1% per annum of the Net Asset Value of each Sub-Fund. This will include any fees and expenses payable to each of the Administrator, the Depository and all other fees and expenses as specified in the Prospectus. It does not include the fees of the Investment Manager or the fees of the underlying investment funds.

9. Distributions

The Directors intend to declare and pay dividends on a quarterly basis for the Global Property Fund from the net investment income of Class D USD Income shares.

The following distributions per share were approved by the Board of Directors and the Investment Manager and were made during the financial period:

Global Property Fund

Ex-Date & Valuation Date	Pay Date	Class D USD Inc
31 March 2023	04 April 2023	$0.005126
30 June 2023	04 July 2023	$0.004814

10. Financial Risk Management

The investment process and other related activities expose the Company to a variety of financial risks, as mentioned in the Prospectus and Supplements. Generally, risk management is a structured approach to managing uncertainty. It comprises a sequence of activities including: risk assessment (risk measurement and monitoring), strategies developed to manage it, mitigation of risk using managerial resource and using the commitment approach to calculate global exposure.

The main recognised risk areas are: Market Risk; Credit Risk; Liquidity Risk; Operational Risk and the Calculation of Global Exposure.

a) Market Risk

Market risk is the risk of loss arising from movements in market variables including observable variables such as interest rates, exchange rates and others that may be indirectly observable such as volatilities and correlations. The risk of price movements on securities and other obligations in tradable form resulting from risk factors and events specific to individual issuers is also considered market risk.

Market risk is comprised of three main types of risk: Price Risk, Currency Risk and Interest Rate Risk. The concentration of market risk by type of investment is disclosed in more detail in the Schedule of Investments.

i) Price Risk

The Sub-Funds' portfolios are exposed to market price risk. Market price risk is the risk that the value of investment holdings will fluctuate as a result of changes in market prices caused by factors specific to the security or factors affecting all securities traded in the market. These risks are monitored by the Sub-Investment Managers in pursuance of the investment objectives and policies of the Sub-Funds. Adherence to investment guidelines mitigates the risk of excessive exposure to any particular type of security or issuer.

ii) Currency Risk

The Sub-Funds can be exposed to currency risk as a result of investing in assets denominated in currencies other than the base currency of the Sub-Fund. Where the Sub-Investment Managers deem it necessary, this exposure to foreign currency fluctuations is mitigated by the use of OTC forward foreign currency exchange contracts.

The Sub-Funds can also be exposed to indirect foreign currency risk where it is investing in assets which have underlying exposure to foreign currency, for example funds which in turn invest in foreign currency denominated assets. Foreign exchange risk is an on-going consideration during the asset allocation and investment selection process.

During the financial period, OTC forward foreign currency exchange contracts were entered into for the purpose of share class hedging. The notional amounts are detailed in the Schedule of Investments.

iii) Interest Rate Risk

The Sub-Funds can be exposed to interest rate risk through holding debt securities and cash. Bond yields (and as a consequence bond prices) are determined by market perception as to the appropriate level of yields given the economic background. Interest rate risk is examined by the Sub-Investment Managers using an internal monitoring system. The risk can be reduced by diversifying (investing in funds who invest in fixed income securities with different durations). The Sub-Investment Managers review on a regular basis the values of fixed interest rate securities in underlying investments.

b) Credit Risk

Credit risk is the risk that one party to a financial instrument will cause a financial loss for the other party by failing to discharge an obligation. This includes counterparty risk and issuer risk. The Sub-Funds hold cash and cash deposits, which potentially expose the Sub-Funds to counterparty risk. The Sub-Funds also hold short-term debtors in the form of unsettled subscription amounts, unsettled securities sold, outstanding coupon and dividend amounts. The risk from these is deemed to be low. Investments are spread across a large number of investment management houses. Investment management reviews are frequently conducted and limits are also set on the amount that may be due from any one manager. The carrying amounts of financial assets best represent the maximum credit risk exposure at the Statement of Financial Position date.

This relates also to financial assets carried at amortised cost, as they have a short-term to maturity. Substantially all of the assets of the Sub-Funds are held by Citi Depositary Services Ireland Designated Activity Company. As such, there is a concentration of credit risk with Citi Depositary Services Ireland Designated Activity Company. Bankruptcy or insolvency of the Depositary may cause the Sub-Funds' rights with respect to securities held by the Depositary to be delayed or limited. The Sub-Funds will be treated as a general creditor in respect of cash held.

Balances due from broker represent margin accounts and sales transactions awaiting settlement. Credit risk relating to unsettled transactions is considered small due to the short settlement period involved and the high credit quality of the brokers used.

The Sub-Funds' credit risk is monitored by monitoring the credit quality and financial position of the Depositary the Sub-Funds use.

c) Liquidity Risk

This is the risk that the Company will encounter difficulty in meeting obligations associated with financial liabilities. The Company is subject to cash redemptions of redeemable participating shares on each dealing day of the respective Sub-Fund. The dealing days are detailed in the Supplements to the Prospectus. It therefore invests the majority of its assets in investments that are traded in an active market and can be readily disposed of. The Sub-Funds' underlying investments are considered readily realisable.

The Core Global Fund invests in iShares' funds and Investment Funds managed by BlackRock Asset Management Ireland Limited as at 30 June 2023. The Global Emerging Markets Equity Fund also invests in an Investment Fund managed by Enterprise Investment Managers Ltd. Liquidity risk of these funds arises from the redemption requests of investors and the liquidity of the underlying investments the funds are invested in. The shareholders of these funds may redeem their shares on the close of any daily dealing deadline for cash equal to a proportionate share of the Funds' NAV.

The Sub-Funds are therefore potentially exposed to the liquidity risk of meeting the shareholders' redemptions and may need to sell assets at prevailing market prices to meet liquidity demands. As a shareholder in these funds, the Core Global Fund and the Global Emerging Markets Equity Fund are also exposed to the liquidity risk of these funds. The Directors may at their discretion limit the number of shares of any Sub-Fund redeemed on any dealing day to shares representing 10% or more of the outstanding shares in any Sub-Fund or shares representing 10% or more of the total Net Asset Value of that Sub-Fund on that dealing day. In this event, the limitation will apply pro rata so that all shareholders wishing to have shares of that Sub-Fund redeemed on that Dealing Day realise the same proportion of such shares. Shares not redeemed, but which would otherwise have been redeemed, will be carried forward for redemption on the next dealing day (subject always to the foregoing limit).

d) Operational Risk

Operational risk is the risk of direct or indirect loss, arising from a wide variety of causes associated with the processes, technology and infrastructure supporting the Company's activities with financial instruments, either internally within the Company or externally at the Company's service providers and from external factors other than credit, market and liquidity risks such as those arising from legal and regulatory requirements and generally accepted standards of investment management behaviour.

The Company's objective is to manage operational risk, so as to balance the limiting of financial losses and damage to its reputation with achieving its investment objective of generating returns to investors.

The primary responsibility for the development and implementation of controls over operational risk rests with the Board of Directors. This responsibility is supported by the development of overall standards for the management of operational risk, which encompasses the controls and processes at the service providers and the establishment of service levels with the service providers.

The Directors' assessment of the adequacy of the controls and processes in place at the service providers with respect to operational risk is carried out via regular discussions with the service providers.

e) Calculation of Global Exposure

The global exposure of the assets held within each Sub-Fund is monitored on a daily basis. In accordance with the regulatory requirements, global exposure can be calculated in two ways, either;

- (1) the incremental exposure generated by the instruments held by a Sub-Fund ("the commitment approach"); or
- (2) where complex investment strategies are used, an advanced risk management methodology such as Value at Risk ("VaR") will be employed.

The Sub-Investment Managers will monitor the assets of each Sub-Fund to ensure that global exposure and leverage will, at all times, remain within the limits set by the Central Bank. The commitment approach is used to calculate global exposure on all Sub-Funds in operation at 30 June 2023.

In accordance with the commitment approach, global exposure is broadly defined as the total market value of the equivalent underlying to all of the financial derivative instruments ("FDIs") entered into by a Sub-Fund (subject to all specific valuation rules described in the European Securities and Markets Authority guidelines).

f) Concentration Risk

As the assets of the Sub-Funds may be invested in a limited number of investments which may be concentrated in a few industries, sectors of the economy or issuers, the negative impact on the value of the assets of the sub funds from adverse movements in a particular economy or industry or in the value of securities of a particular issuer could be considerably greater than if the sub funds were not permitted to concentrate its investments to such an extent.

Concentrations of risk are disclosed in some detail in the Schedules of Investments of each Sub-Fund.

11. Fair Value of Financial Assets and Financial Liabilities

This requires the Sub-Funds to classify fair value measurements using a fair value hierarchy that reflects the significance of the inputs used in making the measurements. The three levels of the fair value hierarchy are described below:

Level 1: Quoted prices (unadjusted) in active markets for identical securities.

Level 2: Prices determined using significant observable inputs. Observable inputs are inputs that reflect the assumptions market participants would use in pricing a security and are developed based on market data obtained from sources independent of the reporting entity (including quoted prices for similar investments, interest rates, prepayment speeds, credit risk, etc.).

Level 3: Prices determined using significant unobservable inputs. In situations where quoted prices or observable inputs are unavailable or deemed less relevant (for example, when there is little or no market activity for an investment at the end of the financial period), unobservable inputs are inputs that reflect the reporting entity's own assumptions about the factors market participants would use in pricing the security and would be based on the best information available under the circumstances.

The inputs or methodology used for valuing securities are not necessarily an indication of the risk associated with investing in those securities. The level in the fair value hierarchy within which the fair value measurement is categorised in its entirety is determined on the basis of the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement in its entirety. For this purpose, the significance of an input is assessed against the fair value measurement in its entirety.

Assessing the significance of a particular input to the fair value measurement in its entirety requires judgement, considering factors specific to the asset or liability. The determination of what constitutes "observable" requires significant judgement. The Directors consider observable data to be that market data that is readily available, regularly distributed or updated, reliable and verifiable, not proprietary and provided by independent sources that are actively involved in the relevant market.

Other than financial assets at fair value through profit or loss and financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss, all other financial instruments not measured at fair value through profit or loss are short-term financial assets and financial liabilities whose carrying amounts approximate fair value. In accordance with IFRS 13, these financial assets and financial liabilities are classified as Level 2 apart from deposits with credit institutions, which are classified as Level 1.

The financial instruments at 30 June 2023 and 31 December 2022 are classified as follows:

Investment Type	Level
Equities	1
Money Market Funds	1
Investment Funds	1
Debt securities	2
Equity-Linked Securities	2
Unrealised gain/(loss) on OTC forward foreign currency exchange contracts	2

The below Russian securities transferred from Level 1 to Level 3 during the financial period. There were no other transfers between levels during the financial period ended 30 June 2023.

*Altaba Inc suspended trading its shares on the NASDAQ on 2 October 2019 and filed a certificate of dissolution on 4 October 2019. As the Investment is in Liquidation and delisted it therefore meets the criteria for a Level 3 asset.

Gazprom PJSC and Magnit PJSC are Russian securities which have been transferred from level 1 to level 3 as at 31 December 2022.

11. Fair Value of Financial Assets and Financial Liabilities (continued)

The change in unrealised gains or losses for the period included in the profit or loss relating to those assets and liabilities held at 30 June 2023, amounted to USD (1,070,537) (31 December 2022: USD (1,522,930)).

These gains and losses are recognised in the profit or loss as a net gain from financial instruments at fair value through profit or loss.

12. Involvement with unconsolidated structured entities

The Company meets the definition of an Investment Entity under IFRS 10 and therefore does not consolidate any investments. IFRS 12 requires disclosures around “Unconsolidated Structured Entities”. IFRS 12 defines a structured entity as an entity that has been designed so that voting or similar rights are not the dominant factor in deciding who controls the entity, such as when any voting rights relate to the administrative tasks only and the relevant activities are directed by means of contractual agreements. Disclosures are required where an interest is held in a structured entity and where, for example, the investor has been involved in the setting up of the structured entity and the investor would have exposure to potential losses or costs over and above the amount actually invested.

The table below describes the types of structured entities that the Company does not consolidate but in which it holds an interest.

Type of structured entity	Nature and purpose	Interest held by the Sub-Fund
Asset backed securities, money market and investment funds	To manage assets on behalf of third party investors and generate fees for the investment manager. These vehicles are financed through the issue of units to investors.	Investments in units/shares issued by the funds or asset backed securities

The following tables set out interests held by the Company in unconsolidated structured entities at the financial period end. The maximum exposure to loss is the carrying amount of the financial assets held.

12. Involvement with unconsolidated structured entities (continued)

The other Sub-Funds not included in the above tables held no interest in unconsolidated structured entities as at the financial period end.

During the financial period ended 30 June 2023 and financial year ended 31 December 2022, the Company did not provide financial support to unconsolidated structured entities.

There were no significant restrictions on the ability of the structured entities to transfer funds to the Sub-Fund. No commitment or intention has been given to provide financial support or any other form of support to these structured entities. The carrying amount is equivalent to fair value and on disposal of the holdings in the investments, the Sub-Fund ceases to be exposed to the investment.

13. Significant Events during the Financial Period End

Andrew Lodge resigned from his position as a Non-Executive Director to the Fund and Managing Director to the Investment Manager with effect from 28 February 2023. Thomas Caddick was appointed as a Non-Executive Director to the Fund and Managing Director to the Investment Manager following approval by the Central Bank on 28 February 2023.

In March 2023, Credit Suisse and Signature Bank collapsed. Exposure to both Banks within the NIF Fund is minimal and immaterial.

Prospectus and Supplements for the Company were issued on 1 June 2023 incorporating the following changes:

- to reflect the conversion of Global Equity Fund, Global Property Fund and Global Behavioural Fund from Article 6 funds to Article 8 for the purposes of SFDR.
- to reflect the settlement period to read within 3 business days for both subscriptions and redemptions.
- to include a restriction on direct investment into crypto.

Events arising in Ukraine, as a result of military action being undertaken by Russia in Ukraine, may impact on securities related to companies domiciled in Russia and/or listed on exchanges located in Russia, including the Moscow Exchange ("Russian Securities"). None of the Sub-Funds have exposure to securities of companies domiciled in Russia. The Directors are monitoring developments related to this military action, including current and potential future interventions of foreign governments and economic sanctions against Russia, in order to assess their impact on any Russian Securities held by the Sub-Funds, including their potential impact on the liquidity of Russian Securities.

The outbreak of Coronavirus (COVID-19), declared by the World Health Organisation ("WHO") as a global pandemic in March 2020 and has impacted many aspects of daily life and the global economy since this date. On 05 May 2023, the WHO have announced that COVID-19 is no longer a public health emergency of international concern. However, this does not mean the pandemic itself is over, but the global emergency it has caused is, for now. The WHO will establish a Review Committee that will develop long-term, standing recommendations for countries on how to manage COVID-19 on an ongoing basis. Most travel movements and operational restrictions implemented by many countries have returned to normal. While many economies globally have reopened the pace of recovery has varied from country to country and most countries also now impacted by the rising inflation as a global phenomenon.

The Directors together with the Manager will continue to monitor business continuity and resilience processes with the objective of mitigating any ongoing impact of COVID-19.

There were no other significant events affecting the financial statements during the financial period ended 30 June 2023.

14. Subsequent Events since the Financial Period End

It is intended to launch a new sub-fund under the Nedgroup Investments Funds umbrella before the end of 2023. The proposition has been approved by the Fund Board and is in the preliminary stages of approval by the Central Bank.

There were no significant events affecting the financial statements since the financial period ended 30 June 2023.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

Net Asset Value per Share

Where a Sub-Fund is made up of more than one class of shares, the Net Asset Value of each class shall be determined by calculating the amount of the Net Asset Value of the Sub-Fund attributable to each class. The amount of the Net Asset Value of a Sub-Fund attributable to a class shall be determined by establishing the value of shares in issue in the class and by allocating relevant fees and expenses to that class and making appropriate adjustments to take account of distributions paid out of the Sub-Fund, if applicable, and apportioning the Net Asset Value of the Sub-Fund accordingly.

The Net Asset Value per share of a class shall be calculated by dividing the Net Asset Value of the class by the number of shares in issue in that class. The value of the assets of a Sub-Fund shall be determined in the base currency of the Sub-Fund.

The following table discloses the Net Asset Value of each share class in issue as at 30 June 2023:
