Exchange rates (Rand spot rate and quarterly change)

US Dollar R14.28

The rand strengthened by more than 5% to the US dollar in May, reaching its best level since 2019 at the start of June. The demand for SA's mining commodities, resulting in the last two quarters being of the largest current account surpluses in our economic history, was one of the key drivers of rand strength.

British Pound R19.73

A number of the domestically focused areas fell back sharply in June, partly due to concerns around the impact of the covid-19 delta variant on the UK's reopening plans. Retailers and travel and leisure sectors in particular performed poorly as the UK government delayed the date to further lift social distancing laws.

Euro R16.93

In Europe, the vaccine rollout has gathered pace, and a more sustained reopening of economies is on track for the second half of the year. The flash Markit eurozone composite PMI rose to 59.2 in June, its highest level since June 2006. Eurozone inflation was estimated at 1.9% in June, down from 2.0% in May.

Global performance drivers

Highlights

- The Constitutional Court found former president Zuma guilty of contempt of court and issued a sentence of 15 months imprisonment. While the rule of law features prominently in the words of the ruling, their consequences perhaps speak even louder.
- Reforms took centre stage in June and appear to be gaining momentum.
 Government confirmed that Takatso, a consortium of private investors, will be the preferred equity partner for embattled air carrier, South African Airways. Transnet will unbundle the ports business to establish a new, independent Transnet National Ports Authority and the electricity self-generation limit will be increased to 100MW from 1MW previously.

Low points

- With the delta variant of covid-19 spreading rapidly in South Africa, the severity of the third wave prompted a move to Alert Level 4 restrictions for two weeks, to be reassessed in early July. While the global recovery is providing cyclical tailwinds, stricter lockdowns are an unfortunate setback.
- The BER consumer confidence index fell this quarter, after recording four consecutive positive quarters. This survey reflects "very depressed consumer confidence levels" and also highlights the divergence of the impact of covid-19 on the different income groups within South Africa.

Highlights

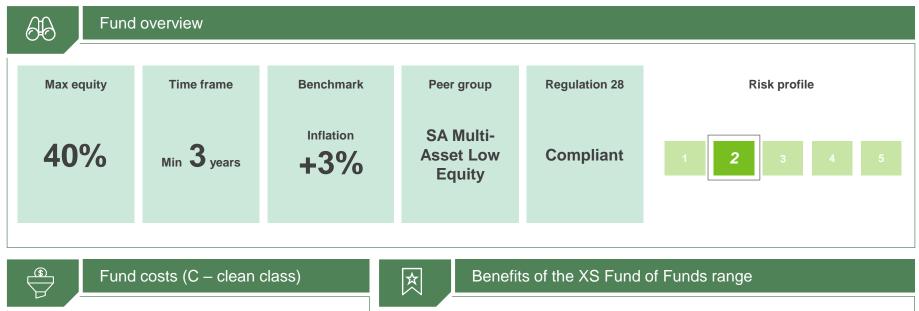

- At the end of the quarter, vaccination rates were close to 50% in the United States and Europe, and over 60% in the United Kingdom. New, more contagious covid-19 variants are spreading, but the existing vaccines seem effective against these variants.
- The European Commission signed off on the first of the national recovery plans which will receive funding from the €800 billion Next Generation EU fund. Spain and Portugal were the first countries to have their spending plans approved.

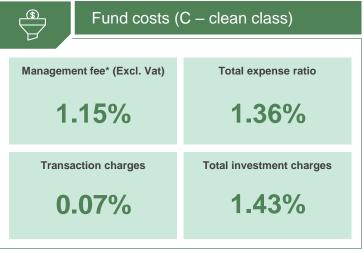

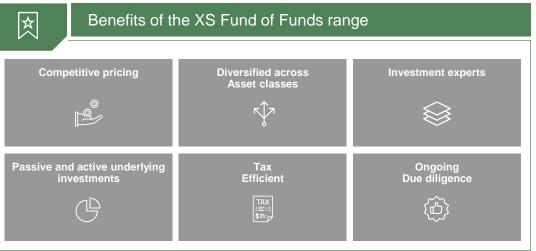

Low points

- In late June President Joe Biden also secured a deal on an infrastructure package worth about $1 trillion to upgrade roads, bridges and broadband networks over the next eight years. The agreement fell short of the $2.3 trillion infrastructure spending plan announced in March, and did not address the social safety-net spending proposed in April.
- Indian hospitals ran out of beds and life-saving oxygen during a devastating second wave of coronavirus in April and May. This devastating surge in covid-19 cases and fatalities, highlighted the importance of rapid vaccination rollouts.

NE

- The domestic flexible income bucket was the biggest contributor during the second quarter, with the local bond market delivering exceptional returns. Our asset managers continued to predominantly hold the SA 10-Year nominal bond and 5-Year SA inflation linked bond. Meanwhile, the position in Royal Bafokeng Convertible generated strong returns for the fund. In addition, the fund's exposure to preference shares (with the majority exposure in the Big 4 banks), meant that the fund could participate in the recovery in capital values as banks recovered from the initial COVID19 shock.
- South Africa's listed property sector was the top performing domestic asset class in the second quarter of 2021. The fund's strategy of having very little exposure to large malls and offices tenanted to the private sector, while continuing to have exposure to rural and township neighbourhood and convenience retail centres in the Western Cape (with an emphasis on logistics properties in that region), boded well for the fund.
- The domestic equity carve-out was a detractor to the overall fund performance. While domestically focussed companies such as banks, retailers and real estate companies were up strongly, the likes of Naspers and Prosus were flat and down -12% respectively. Naspers is the largest position within the funds top 10 holdings and was a major detractor as the much- hyped value unlock transaction was poorly received by the market. Interventions by Chinese regulators further spooked the market.
- In terms of emerging markets, disappointingly for the fund, stock selection in China, Brazil, Russia and India detracted from performance. Overweight position in Brazil hurt the manager's performance, whilst underweights positions in the Gulf region and in South Africa, dragged on performance.

Summary of recent changes

The following asset allocation decisions were made during the quarter:

- Increased our global equity exposure by introducing fund manager Dodge & Cox. The manager has an emerging market tilt.
- · While we are still overweight domestic bonds, we reduced our tactical allocation to domestic bonds and in turn increased our allocation to domestic equity.
- Continued to reduce the underweight position in domestic equity by allowing our weight to drift upwards with the markets towards a neutral position.

Domestic asset class positioning

Domestic Equity

21.1%

- We have moved to reduce the underweight position to this asset class as opportunities have been created in the market.
- Small cap stocks tend to be most exposed to the domestic environment and while they may benefit during a turnaround, during periods of low growth they are the most exposed.

Domestic Bond

Domestic Property

4.8%

- We acknowledge the very attractive yields on offer .
- Returns are likely to be constrained by balance sheet concerns and remains under continuous review. Furthermore, current assumptions for expected property returns include no distribution growth and no capital re-rating.

Domestic Cash

28.5%

- The steep SA yield curve keeps long-dated bonds at attractive yields, however, fiscal risks and risks relating to SOEs are still prevalent.
- Bonds have been reliable source of income for client portfolios during the heart of the Covid-19 pandemic but the inflation outlook remains a key consideration...

Under weight

13.4%

- Provides consistent return profile however, cash interest rates remain low.
- The healthy cash balance also provides optionality (dry power) should opportunities arise.

Global asset class positioning

Global Equity

Over weight

18.3%

- Unprecedented stimulus coupled with accommodative central bank policy should prove positive for equity markets and we believe prospects remain favourable.
- However, we remain cautiously optimistic on equity markets. A balanced exposure to growth and value stocks remains important

Global Property

4.2%

We have grown increasingly positive on the prospects for property, and specifically commercial property within the prime space of central retail and hospitality to benefit from a continued economic reopening.

Global Bond

Under weight

5.2%

- The conundrum continues with fixed income markets and the longer term prospect of higher rates.
- Our preference remains for taking less duration risk, but greater credit risk within portfolios to generate attractive risk adjusted return.

Global Cash

Under weight

2.6%

 Cash positions remain as the underlying managers look for compelling, idiosyncratic opportunities.
