Exchange rates (Rand spot rate and quarterly change)

US Dollar R14.61

The rand had a strong quarter relative to the US dollar, benefiting from positive sentiment around the SONA and National Budget delivered in February, as well as the rally in commodity prices. It gained substantial momentum at the end of the quarter when SARB hiked rates, making our cash yield more attractive to foreign investors.

British Pound R19.24

The US dollar shed some ground to the British pound in the first half of the quarter due to another interest rate hike by the Bank of England. UK inflation exceeding market expectations in March fuelled expectations of tighter monetary policy by the Bank of England, further boosting the pound.

Euro R16.26

The ECB left rates unchanged throughout the quarter, despite inflation surging to a record high of 5.1% in January. In March, the US dollar rose sharply against the euro as new sanctions against Russia were discussed. The US and Europe have vowed to punish Moscow for the deaths of civilians in northern Ukraine.

Domestic performance drivers

Highlights

- The rand gained solid momentum after President Cyril Ramaphosa delivered an encouraging State of the Nation Address on the 10th of February.
- Minister Enoch Godongwana tabled the 2022 National Budget in February, showing improved fiscal metrics for the country. As expected, a surge in government revenue, boosted by a jump in corporate tax revenue, helped to reduce the budget deficit to 5.7% of GDP in fiscal 2021/22.
- South Africa recorded economic growth of 1.2% in the fourth quarter of 2021, staging a decent recovery after the damage caused by the riots in the third quarter.

Low points

- The petrol price was increased by close to R1.50 in March, taking the price per litre to over R21. This, alongside the announcement by Eskom of a 9.61% tariff increase effective 1 April 2022, puts severe pressure on the SA consumer.
- In February, the Financial and Fiscal Commission (FFC) stated that Russia's invasion of Ukraine will have an impact on South Africa's economic recovery, likely slowing growth in what was expected to be a post-pandemic recovery year.

Global performance drivers

Highlights

- The US dollar strength and strong US jobs report in March, bolstered the case for more aggressive Federal Reserve rate hikes to tame decades-high inflation. The improved clarity on the rate hike path from the Fed improved investor sentiment.
- The US economy recorded a strong expansion in the fourth quarter of 2021, with the real gross domestic product (GDP) accelerating at an annual rate of 6.9%. In the UK, GDP surprised to the upside, accelerating at an annual rate of 6.6% in the fourth quarter of 2021.

Low points

- Russia invading Ukraine on the 24th of February is the largest military conflict in Europe since World War II.
- While Russia is not a very large part of the global economy, Russia is a major energy and commodity producer (Ukraine is also a sizeable exporter of wheat and sunflower oil).
- The escalation of tensions pushed energy and commodity prices to extreme levels, exacerbating the surge in inflation caused by supply chain disruptions as a result of the pandemic in 2020, and acted as a risk to global growth.

Positive contributors this quarter

- Amidst the global turmoil, South Africa has emerged as an emerging market safe haven. The domestic equity market returned 6.7% for the quarter (Capped SWIX) and the bond market 1.9% (ALBI), ending the quarter as the two top performers of the major asset classes.
- The banks sector has been one of the strongest performing sectors recently. In March, four of the five domestic banks reported results that exceeded market expectations and highlighted their resilience over the Covid period. The fund's largest positions in this sector are Standard Bank and FirstRand, both +30% in the quarter.
- Resources also had a strong quarter, with exposure to Glencore (+18%) and Anglo American (+22%) amongst the top contributors in this space.

Detractors this quarter

- The rand strengthened by 9% to the US dollar this quarter. The terms of trade boost (higher export prices relative to import prices) on the back of higher commodity prices has been the primary driver of the rand's outperformance. This strength did, however, detract from direct offshore and SA listed rand hedged exposure held in the fund.
- In addition to currency weakness, global equity markets were down in US dollar terms, significantly underperforming the domestic equity allocation and detracting from performance.
- Naspers (-33% for the quarter) and Prosus (-39%) were two of the worst performing stocks on the domestic equity market this quarter. Regulatory uncertainty, particularly around the technology sector, continues to weigh on sentiment despite recent attempts to reassure investors.
