Key take-outs this quarter

As at 31 March 2026

Markets entered March already on edge, but the escalation of conflict in the Middle East delivered a shock that quickly refocused investor attention on a familiar trio of risks: energy prices, inflation, and growth. The effective closure of the Strait of Hormuz - through which roughly a quarter of seaborne oil once flowed - triggered a sharp repricing of inflation risk. Hopes for a smooth US Federal Reserve easing cycle in 2026 faded quickly, replaced by concerns of stubborn price pressures. While the Fed held rates steady at 3.50% - 3.75%, expectations turned more hawkish.

South Africa's quarter exposed a sharp tension between quietly improving domestic fundamentals and an abruptly hostile global environment. Despite progress on structural reform and fiscal consolidation, global shocks weighed heavily on this energy - importing economy. Local equities reflected the strain: the All Share Index fell -0.6% for the quarter, masking a savage 10.5% plunge in March - the worst monthly performance since March 2020. Bond markets fared worse. The All Bond Index declined -3.4% for the quarter, driven by a -6.8% sell-off in March as global inflation fears pushed yields sharply higher, particularly on longer - dated bonds. Inflation-linked bonds fell -1.3%, listed property dropped -4.9%, and markets now price a 25bp rate hike in May, with cuts deferred until 2027 - leaving income, rather than price appreciation, as the main consolation.

That uncertainty rippled swiftly through global equities and risk appetite evaporated, and March proved unforgiving, erasing earlier gains with striking speed. Developed markets bore the brunt: the S&P 500 closed the quarter down -4.3% in dollar terms, while the MSCI World Index fell -3.6% over the quarter. Emerging markets were even more volatile - ending the quarter near flat but only after a double digit plunge in March. While valuations have reset to more attractive levels, the path ahead remains highly sensitive to energy prices, inflation dynamics, and geopolitical developments, suggesting that heightened volatility is likely to remain a defining feature of markets in the near term.

Therefore, the Core Accelerated Fund declined by -1.4% over the quarter.

Nedgroup Collective Investments (RF) Proprietary Limited is the company that is authorised in terms of the Collective Investment Schemes Control Act to administer the Nedgroup Investments unit trust portfolios. Unit trusts are generally medium to long term investments. The value of your investment may go down as well as up. Past performance is not necessarily a guide to future performance. Nedgroup Investments does not guarantee the performance of your investment and even if forecasts about the expected future performance are included you will carry the investment and market risk, which includes the possibility of losing capital. Unit trusts are traded at ruling prices and can engage in borrowing and scrip lending. Certain unit trust funds may be subject to currency fluctuations due to its international exposure. Nedgroup Investments has the right to close unit trust funds to new investors in order to manage it more efficiently. A schedule of fees and charges and details of our awards are available on request from Nedgroup Investments. A fund of funds may only invest in other unit trust funds, that levy their own charges, which could result in a higher fee structure. Nedgroup Investment Advisors (Pty) Ltd (the 'Investment Manager') an authorised as a financial services provider under the Financial Advisory and Intermediary Services Act (FSP No. 1652), is the appointed Investment Manager of the Management Company.

Certain Nedgroup Investments unit trust portfolios include international assets, whereby a change in the exchange rates may cause the value of those investments to rise and fall. Excessive withdrawals from the portfolio may place the portfolio under liquidity pressures and that in such circumstances a process of ring fencing of withdrawal instructions and managed pay outs over time may be followed.
