Key take-outs this quarter

As at 30 June 2026

What began as a month overshadowed by fears of conflict and rising energy costs ended on a far more optimistic note. A ceasefire framework between the United States and Iran, coupled with the reopening of the Strait of Hormuz, eased concerns about supply disruptions and helped drive Brent crude oil prices 38% lower over the quarter to $72.90 per barrel. As inflation fears receded, investor confidence returned, lifting the MSCI All Country World Index 15.1% in the second quarter.

South Africa delivered encouraging news during the quarter, with Fitch upgrading the country's sovereign credit rating from BB- to BB, reflecting improved fiscal discipline and progress in structural reforms. Economic growth remained modest but positive, with GDP expanding 0.5% in Q1 2026, while inflation rose to 4.5% in May, below market expectations. Improved investor sentiment, a stronger rand and renewed foreign demand helped local bonds recover, with the 10-year government bond yield falling from 9.33% in March to 8.66% by mid-June. Despite these positive developments, weaker consumer spending, subdued investment and persistently high unemployment continued to temper the economic outlook.

Artificial intelligence remained a powerful driver of markets, but June marked a subtle shift. Investors increasingly broadened their focus beyond the largest technology companies, seeking opportunities across sectors and regions. Nowhere was this more evident than in developing economies, where the MSCI Emerging Markets Index surged 24.1% during the quarter, reflecting a growing appetite for risk as market participation widened.

The improving geopolitical backdrop offered policymakers some relief, but caution remained the order of the day. While falling oil prices improved the inflation outlook, price pressures across major economies continued to run above central bank targets. In the United States, the Federal Reserve kept interest rates unchanged at 3.50%-3.75%, underscoring the delicate balance between supporting growth and ensuring inflation remains on a path back to target.

Therefore, the Core Accelerated Fund increase by 4.3% over the quarter.
